

Kit Officer's Report 2015

Kate Moon

In 2015 BASU introduced a navy polo shirt for tournaments. This was extremely popular, and 59 were handed out to BASU umpires. The shirts were subsidised by BASU, with only £5 charged for the first one, which meant quite a loss in terms of revenue.

Newly-qualified umpires get some of their first kit free of charge, which again was subsidised by BASU.

A new style cap was trialled showing a BASU shield; most of these were used as gifts at ESF competitions.
